What we are learning.....

It was fun to watch the kids think about their families actual traits and not draw them blue with purple hair. We had to stop and think about hair color, eye color, and skin color when we drew our family! We talked about what makes our families special, different things our families like to do together, and compared how our families are alike and different. Next week we will go a little more in dept on self awareness and learn to develop self control.
