What we are learning.....

The kids were excited to see how much self control and awareness they had. We kept tallies and they were eager to get a lower number the following day! Self control meant they were following the rules and controlling their bodies even when they wanted to do something else. It also meant they participated in every activity even if they didn't want to. We talked about how every feeling/emotion is ok to have, but it is how we handle it that matters. Next week we will be learning all about Fall!
