

Ms. Klein's Third and Fourth Grade News

October 26, 2018

This Week

Here is what we did in the classroom this week:

Math- The third graders continued to practice their multiplication facts this week. They also learned how to use a pictograph to answer questions. The fourth graders learned about multiplication patterns, how to estimate by rounding, how to write an equation, and how to multiply with zeros as well as 2, 3, and 4-digit numbers this week.

English/Writing- The students had daily grammar review activities this week. They also learned how to revise and edit one of their personal narratives this week.

Spelling- The third graders had words with ch, sh, th, or wh this week. The fourth graders had words that had a short "u" sound this week.

Reading- The third graders listened to "Amazing Grace" and "Boundless Grace" this week. We discussed how the main character (Grace) changed throughout the books and similarities and differences between the books. The fourth graders listened to "Slinky, Scaly, Slithery Snakes." We compared that book to "Animal Senses" from a few weeks ago. They learned how animals use their senses in these two books.

Religion- We discussed how Jesus sacrificed himself on the Cross and how the Sacrifice of the Mass compares to it this week. We discussed the two parts of Mass this week (Liturgy of the Word/Liturgy of the Eucharist).

Social Studies- We discussed how wagons helped people to travel many years ago. They also learned that the Lakota Native American group often hunted buffalo and used almost every part of the buffalo to meet their needs. We discussed the automobile industry and why Detroit is called the "Motor City." We also discussed the fact that the Midwest is known as the "breadbasket" of the United States because the food that is grown in the Midwest is transported throughout the country.

Science- We discussed the Earth and sun, the Earth and moon, the solar system, and stars and constellations this week.

I will be collecting October Book -It calendars next week. If your child read for at least 20 minutes five nights a week and you sign the paper, I will give the students a coupon for a free personal pan pizza from Pizza Hut. They will get a calendar for November on November 1st.

Grades are updated often on Option C. Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Have a great weekend!

Sincerely,

Ms. Klein

Spelling Words for next week:

3rd- into, today, without, something, become, upon, myself, everybody, everyone, maybe, outside, basketball, homework, skateboard, earthquake

4th- didn't, that's, they're, you're, couldn't, haven't, o'clock, we're, isn't, I'm, it's, who's, they'd, could've, they've, you'll, don't, aren't

Daily Homework

Read for 20 minutes

Math worksheet/
Practice Rocket Math

Practice Spelling Words

Spelling Worksheet

English page (usually done in class)

Math book work (usually done in class)

General Information

Our classroom Halloween party will be held Wednesday afternoon. Thank you to the following parents who have offered to provide the following items:

Amanda Schuster-Paper products (paper plates, napkins, cups)

Justi Hoff-Drink

Nichole Watring-Snack

We will be very busy next week. Halloween is on Wednesday, and the students will have Mass on Thursday and Friday. It is our turn to lead with Mass parts on Thursday and Friday. The students have been given their parts. The fourth graders have also been trained to serve, so they will start serving at weekday Mass starting next week. Arleigh will serve on Thursday, and Britta will serve on Friday. Cooper and Nolan will serve the following week.

Although next week will be "out of the ordinary", we will still proceed with academic work in all areas as usual. The students will have their Spelling and Math tests on Friday.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 150-200 words.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

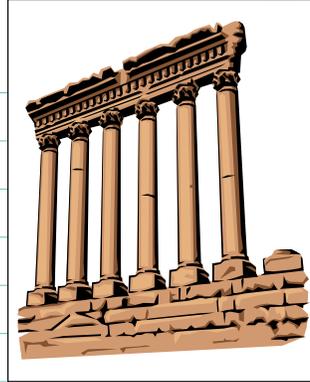

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Publisher offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Caption describing picture or graphic.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 75-125 words.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey. Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Caption describing picture or graphic.

Microsoft Publisher includes thousands of clip art images from which you can choose and import into your newsletter.

There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.

Once you have chosen an image, place it close to the article. Be sure to place the caption of the image near the image.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 150-200 words.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Publisher offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Caption describing picture or graphic.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon

new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 75-125 words.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey. Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Microsoft Publisher includes thousands of clip art images from which you can choose and import into your newsletter. There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.

Caption describing picture or graphic.

Once you have chosen an image, place it close to the article. Be sure to place the caption of the image near the image.

Organization

Hewlett-Packard

Primary Business Address
Your Address Line 2
Your Address Line 3
Your Address Line 4

Phone: 555-555-5555
Fax: 555-555-5555
E-mail:
someone@example.com

We're on the Web!
example.com

This would be a good place to insert a short paragraph about your organization. It might include the purpose of the organization, its mission, founding date, and a brief history. You could also include a brief list of the types of products, services, or programs your organization offers, the geographic area covered (for example, western U.S. or European markets), and a profile of the types of customers or members served.

It would also be useful to include a contact name for readers who want more information about the organization.

Your business tag line here.

Back Page Story Headline

This story can fit 175-225 words. If your newsletter is folded and mailed, this story will appear on the back. So, it's a good idea to make it easy to read at a glance.

A question and answer session is a good way to quickly capture the attention of readers. You can either compile questions that you've received since the last edition or you can summarize some generic questions that are frequently asked about your organization.

A listing of names and titles of managers in your organization is a good way to give your newsletter a personal touch. If your organization is small, you may want to list the names of all employees.

If you have any prices of standard products or services, you can include a listing of those here.

You may want to refer your readers to any other forms of communication that you've created for your organization.

You can also use this space to remind readers to mark their calendars for a regular event, such as a breakfast meeting for vendors every third Tuesday of the month, or a biannual charity auction.

If space is available, this is a good place to insert a clip art image or some other graphic.

Caption describing picture or graphic.